

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE 1

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL
15 JULY 1977

STAT

PENTAGON WARRIORS fight a CIA takeover. Intelligence chief Turner wants control of the military's National Security Agency, which intercepts foreign government communications. Military men contend that under CIA direction it would slight collection of military data; they would have to begin their own monitoring. Carter is due to rule soon on the reorganization.